How we can support you

Qualified support staff

We are passionate about providing person-centred and active support to ensure you live in a safe and happy home. We listen to your needs to develop a roster of qualified support staff that can drop in to provide support or be on hand 24/7.

Engage with your community

We encourage you to be involved within your community, build an active social life, get out and about, and have fun!

Build life skills

We support you with developing important daily living skills to live independently, such as learning how to maintain a clean and safe home, personal care, budgeting, and social skills.

In-Home Support

Get support in your home. With a focus on your individual goals, Endeavour Foundation provides access to support that meets your circumstances and expectations.

In-Home Support allows you to develop daily living skills. Daily living skills or life skills are the kinds of skills that help you do everyday things, and often help you become more independent.

The types of daily living skills you might need help with are different from person to person, just like how everyone's needs, goals and abilities are different.

In-Home Support clients choose support for:

- Meal preparation
- Completing general household tasks
- Daily living activities, such as managing money
- Social connection
- Supports as negotiated with you.

Community Participation

Get support when engaging in the local community. Our experienced support team works with you to understand your goals.

Community Participation provides supports for activities like:

- Shopping
- Movies
- Exercise (hiking, gym, yoga, fitness classes and more)
- Travel training or public transport experiences
- Social events
- Music concerts
- Life skills; and more.

Frequently asked questions

Do I need to change my NDIS plan for more funding?

This depends on your current NDIS plan.

If your plan already includes “Core > Assistance with Social, Economic and Community Participation”, you may be able to access In-Home support and community access. It depends on how you choose to use your funding.

It is best to speak with a Support Coordinator. If you are self-managed, contact our team 1800 112 112 for assistance.

What are the levels of support for in-home support?

There are different levels of support to meet your individual needs.

We offer a drop-in service to provide support with daily household tasks.

We also provide 24/7 support, which is the same support you would receive in a supported home. This home could be a private rental, owned home, government housing or an alternative service providers home.

What are the levels of support for Community Participation?

Living a full life is about getting out and about, meeting people, and trying new things. With Community Participation a support worker will support you in taking part in the community whether that be signing up for an art class, going to doctors' appointments, or other activities. You choose what activities you need support with.

Do I need to live in an Endeavour Foundation home to access In-Home Support?

No, you do not need to live in an Endeavour Foundation supported accommodation. You can live in your own home, rented home or government housing.

Visit endeavour.com.au or speak to our team on 1800 112 112 to find our service regions.

Is In-Home Support the same as Individualised Living Options (ILO)?

No, ILO funding is for people with lower support needs who want to explore different options to figure out how they want to live and covers the cost of any paid supports they choose to include in their plan.

I want to refer my client for Individualised Support

Fantastic! We offer a diverse range of supports, programs and activities aimed at supporting people with disability to learn daily living skills and connect with their community.
